1. About the Grand Solutions programme

The Grand Solutions programme invests in ambitious and preferably interdisciplinary research and innovation projects that can create new, specific solutions to important, politically prioritized societal challenges and create value throughout Denmark. To the extent possible, the Grand Solutions programme invests in projects carried out in close collaboration between research institutions and the business community or public customers of solutions, for instance municipalities and regions. Innovation Fund Denmark encourages cross-disciplinary projects in all parts of the value chain – from foundational research (in Danish: grundlagsskabende forskning) to industrial research and experimental development.

Within the Grand Solutions programme, a two-phase application model will be adopted. Phase 1 is a request for a letter of interest and open to all interested applicants, whereas phase 2 is a request for a full application and only open by invitation.

Applicants for phase 1 will be invited to phase 2 if two conditions are met:

- a) Innovation Fund Denmark assesses the letter of interest from phase 1 as an interesting and relevant proposal which largely meets the assessment criteria
- b) The number of invited applications will result in a success rate of approximately 30-50% within phase 2

Innovation Fund Denmark distributes the available funds in open competition between projects that demonstrate the greatest positive effect while at the same time contributing to growth and employment in Denmark.

The distribution of the funds for this call originates from the current Finance Act and the agreement on the disposition of the Research Reserve (see links under section 5: Guidelines and inspiration).

Read more about the Grand Solutions programme here.

¹ The Innovation Fund Denmark may at its discretion decide to increase the overall budget for this call, particularly in case of excess funds when faced with a substantial list of qualified applications in this call that cannot be funded within the original budget.

2. Aim of the call

The Innovation Fund's purpose with investments in life science, health, and welfare technology is to support that Denmark's strong knowledge and research position in the field is translated into interventions, products, and technologies that benefit Danish citizens, the healthcare system, companies' net incomes, and Danish exports. As far as possible, the research must therefore be carried out in close cooperation between research institutions and the business community.

The projects can, for example, contribute to:

- Development of new drugs, including personalized medicine
- Development of the digital health area including the health data area
- Development of medical equipment and use of artificial intelligence that e.g. are related to treatment in patients' or citizens' own home
- Strengthening of the local healthcare system as well as development, testing, and application of welfare technology within e.g. the elderly, the social and the health area
- Digital prevention and treatment services for people with mental disorders
- Clinical outcome and economic impact of whole genome sequencing etcetera

Research should be performed according to The Danish Code of Conduct for Research Integrity.

Note: Projects with a strong focus on digitalization, new technology or artificial intelligence should also see the Grand Solutions call for Critical and digital technologies. Applicants with projects with a strong focus on research and technology development within biotechnology and biosolutions should see the Grand Solutions call for Biotechnology and Biosolutions.

3. Decision criteria

The three overall decision criteria are:

Further information about the decision criteria can be found in the Guidelines for Grand Solutions Phase 1 and Guidelines for Grand Solutions Phase 2. Please note that the evaluation criteria differ in the two phases (see link in section 5: Guidelines and inspiration).
